After helping Qorvo develop its national workplace guidelines, Workplace Architecture + Design served as architect-of-record and design lead in deploying the new standards to Qorvo's IDP Headquarters. Our team worked with Qorvo's local Texas team to capture site-specific work flows and develop a programmatic statement, with a goal to enhance collaboration within the workplace. The design deployed project and focus rooms within the office environment to provide a mixed palette of place for 250+ employees. Work Cafés on the second and third floors, along with a branded Coffee House on the first floor tied together employee amenities with a flexible work environment. The project's design opened up the floors for maximum natural light, integrated key health and wellness design concepts, and utilized furniture-based solutions to provide an innovative workplace.
