In an effort to enhance employee recruitment and retention, Key Risk relocated from Greensboro to High Point, NC, situating their new office on the third floor with a centerfield view of Truist Point, home of the High Point Rockers baseball team. Workplace A+D, collaborating with Chicago-based firm LJC, served as Architect of Record to create a high-end corporate office space. Adhering to design standards set by parent company Berkley Insurance and respecting the building's industrial and historic character, the design incorporates various textures, saturated blues, warm wood tones, and mixed materials. The result is a modern yet inviting aesthetic that balances corporate sophistication with warmth.
