BE Aerospace (now Collins Aerospace) engaged Workplace Architecture + Design for programming, space planning, and construction documentation of the 150 Oak Plaza building. Our firm served as project manager, our role extended to consolidating 250 aerospace engineers from different locations, including the headquarters of the aircraft interiors divisions. Workplace A+D managed furniture selections, orchestrated the interior signage package, and oversaw exterior signage coordination for the project. This comprehensive approach ensured the seamless integration of various elements, facilitating the efficient consolidation of aerospace engineers while addressing the interior and exterior design aspects, resulting in a cohesive and functional workspace for Collins Aerospace. The partnership with BE Aerospace has transformed into an enduring, longstanding collaboration with Collins Aerospace.
