Workplace Architecture + Design has collaborated with Senior Services since 2019 on planning and designing the Intergenerational Center for Arts and Wellness. Extensive planning and research focused on fostering intergenerational connections within the facility, home to the Elizabeth and Tab Williams Adult Day Center and a new preschool/childcare facility for Family Services. The project integrates local partners to offer holistic community programs emphasizing arts and wellness for both older and younger adults. The complexity lies in harmonizing multiple organizations within one facility, including the Hispanic League, Novant Health, Winston-Salem State University, Atrium Health Wake Forest-Baptist's Sticht Center, Sawtooth School for Visual Arts, Second Harvest Food Bank of NWNC, and more. Embracing the Main Street Concept, the facility symbolizes a city within a building, providing a diverse range of services for Forsyth County residents.
